Campus Traffic Laws Become More Strict

By BOB SMITH

Pres. Frank J. Prout yesterday approved the recommendations of Student Senate for more strict campus traffic regulations, and formal assignment of reckless driving cases on campus to Student Court. A 15 mph speed limit for campus traffic is now in effect.

Senate passed the recommendations Monday evening.

President Prout also announced the University Board of Trustees has given its sanction to the Senate proposal of making Urschel Pond available to students for swimming. Plans are in progress to do so sometime in the spring.

In expressing complete confidence in ability of Student Court to exercise its authority, Police Chief William J. Rohrs, in his recommendations to Senate, affirmed the assignment to the Court of reckless driving cases involving student and faculty drivers on campus.

However, he said cases involving drunken and extremely reckless driving will be taken to court downtown, a prerogative which campus police may exercise. This would not be the mayor's court, he added. All other cases will appear in Student Court as long as they remain capable of handling them.

It is illegal to operate a motor vehicle recklessly, endangering the life, limb, and property of others, and to exceed a speed limit of 15 mph, on campus, was the text of the approved traffic code.

In addition, three hazardous areas have been designated where extreme caution must be exercised by vehicle operators. They are: The areas between the Commons and Men's Gym, the Commons and Fraternity Row, and apartment areas.

A safety investigation of Urschel Pond, as demanded by the Board of Trustees, has been assigned to Sam Cooper, chairman of the men's physical education dept.

The trustees reported that a large quantity of sand had been dumped into the Pond several years ago and that it had been dredged for loose underwater ledges by city officials, making it safe for swimming at that time.

The area will be entirely fenced in with a single entrance gate, and life guards, on University payroll, will be furnished. Dr. Prout gave hope that the trustees would authorize bath houses in the future.

Faculty Members Newest Entries In Pie Contest

Pi Kappa Alpha's annual pie eating contest will give six faculty members a taste of the event at 8:30 tomorrow evening in the Women's Bldg. Formerly the competition was limited to sororities and fraternities, each having one representative in the races, but this year the faculty will also compete against each other.

An 8-inch cherry pie will be presented to each of the contestants along with a whistle. The first person to finish the whole pie with no more than five cherries left, and blow the whistle will win the trophy for his or her organization. The faculty award has not yet been decided.

The two trophies are rotating and must be won for three years in a row in order for the sorority or fraternity to have permanent possession of it. Alpha Chi Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon have been the winners for the past two years.

The pie eating contest was originated by the Bowling Green chapter of PiKA in 1943 and is now carried on by other chapters, reported George Higgins, chairman of the committee. The contest is one of the many events of Pi Week sponsored by the PiKAs.

Varsity Debate Team Ties For Honors At State Tournament Held In Columbus

Prof. M. Harold Mickle's debate squad last Saturday softened the loss of the Peace Pipe by bringing home a silver trophy from the Ohio State Men's Debate Tournament at Capital University, Columbus.

The team won the cup when they tied for first place with Kent State and Heidelberg; all three schools scored wins of 8 debates out of 12.

Capture of this cup, the first since 1939, entitles the group to a chance at selection to the West Point National Tournament.

Veterans debaters Lou Fernandez and George Maragakes, graduates of Canton McKinley, won 5 of the 8 debates. Less experienced Bill Pampel and Jerry Peterson, both of Findlay, brought in the remaining three.

Last year, Professor Mickle's debate team was edged out of first place in the Men's Finals by only one debate, even though Maragakes and Fernandez were victors in all six of their debates.

The trophy, according to Professor Mickle, is in his office, where it will be kept pending the construction of a display case.

On the day before the Ohio State triumph, a group of women debaters placed third at the Mount Mercy Tournament, Pittsburgh. The two pairs showed third in the contest which promised 20 schools.

These women were: Adele Kihlken, Vondale Swaisgood, Jeanne Barber, and Harriet Woods. They earned the decision in 5 of 8 debates.

Star debater Fernandez copped a Superior Award Medal, Feb. 18, at DePauw University, Green Castle, Ind. Fernandez and his teammates drew third place, winning 5 of their 8 debates.

Albert Goh took first place in the Oratory Division of the Great Lakes Tournament held Feb. 4 at Bowling Green. Reading an original oration entitled "Sahib- Tuan," Goh achieved a victory over 13 other contestants.

At the Northwestern University Tourney, Feb. 11, Professor Mickle's team won 3 of their 4 rounds of debate. Pat Swineford participated as alternate.

On the same day a less experienced group of debaters were contending in the Purdue Novice at Purdue University, also winning 3 of 4.

These students are: Alice Kohn, Doris McCartney, Marilyn McClintock, Adele Kihlken, Robert Whetstone, Jeanne Barber, Pat Sikes, and Vondale Swaisgood.

St. Paul will be the stage for the next debating by Bowling Green. Pat Swineford, Pat Sikes, Jerry Peterson, and Lou Fernandez this weekend will meet some 60 schools in debate.

Ogle's Condition Reported Fair

Miss Nellie Ogle, associate professor of business administration, has been confined to the hospital where, according to Dr. Wm. S. Rothe, her condition is fair. She is permitted visitors.

More Dating Makes For Better Grades?

Been dating more lately? Your grades any better? If you are getting higher grades and are still dating more than you did previously, you may be another statistic to help prove Dr. Samuel Lowrie's theory that more dates mean better marks.

Dr. Lowrie, whose survey on dating was the subject of an article in a recent Sunday magazine section, said that generally speaking, the article was accurate. However, he added, his study does not prove that more dating means better grades, but only indicates that this is true.

This statement was "overplayed for the purpose of publicity," he feels. There are exceptions to this theory of dating, said Dr. Lowrie, and the findings of the survey are averages, not individual scores. The study indicates that those persons who do not date at all and those who do not date on campus make the lowest grades. Even "grinds" who do not date don't always make the highest marks.

Dr. Lowrie has received a number of letters from all over the country regarding the article which appeared in "This Week." They varied from those seriously concerned with the research to those having individual problems. There was only one critical letter of a serious order.

When asked if his studies on dating will be used in textbooks, Dr. Lowrie replied that some of his writings were already referred to in several books. However, he feels that more data will have to be collected before his theory will be generally accepted.

Most of these studies concerned college students. Dr. Lowrie is now making a survey of the same nature among high school students.

Comic Opera Opening Set For Next Wednesday Eve

By JOHN CHAPMAN

For the first time since 1942 an operatic production will be staged at Bowling Green State University beginning March 8 at 8:15 p.m.

A comic opera, "The Bartered Bride," is scheduled for four performances. An opera with a light, humorous style, the 3-act performance is presented by the BGSU music and speech departments.

Robert O. Jaynes, tenor, assistant to the registrar, takes the romantic lead as Jenik with Jacqueline Smith, soprano, as Marie. A total of 74 persons will comprise the entire singing and dancing cast.

Written by Bedrich Smetana, Czechoslovakia's foremost 19th century composer, "The Bartered Bride" draws its humor from the customs of an 18th century Bohemian family.

An operatic story revolves around the antique Bohemian practice of marriage brokerage. A girl's parents decide who will share her married life by transacting with a broker.

Marie, a girl, and Jenik, her lover, must struggle through the

Prom Orchestra On Several Discs

Ray Anthony, who has been booked to play for the University Prom, May 27, got his start as a member of the late Glenn Miller's band. Anthony's orchestra has been acclaimed by Capital Records as the next "dance band of the year."

They have achieved fame in such popular night spots as the Paladium, the Paramount Theatre, and Chicago's College. "Down Beat," musical magazine, has also cited the Anthony aggregation as the "sensation of the nation."

His most recent recording hits include "Spider" and "Dreamers' Holiday." Singers Pat Baldwin and the Skyliners are featured with the band.

Coal Rumors Untrue

"The coal supply will last for at least another 10 days," Pres. Frank J. Prout said today in answer to the numerous rumors that are now rapidly being spread around the campus concerning Bowling Green's coal supply. Besides this supply, there is a promise of three more carloads to be shipped this week.

Other state institutions are in approximately the same situation as Bowling Green and have not closed as rumored. All school officials agreed however that the situation is critical but will be alleviated if the strike is settled this week.

Dr. Prout said that Bowling Green will not close if possible because this would make it necessary to run the school year farther into June.

Coal conservation measures have already been put into effect at the University to help save the present supply of coal. No steam heat is being piped into the Dorms during the day. The heat is turned on at 5 and off at 10 and then back on again at 4 in the morning until 7. These measures will continue until the emergency is ended. All dormitories have been notified of the existing regulations.

Bulletin

President Prout announced today that 51 tons of coal were received at the University yesterday and that a carload of petroleum coke is due today.

dealings of their parents with the marriage broker in order to successfully complete the plot.

The marriage broker, played by Douglas McEwen, baritone, and Jenik's half brother, Vashek, are the only stumbling blocks to a happy ending. The complications which would undoubtedly arise when a business is made of marriage move the story to its climax. Vashek is played by tenor Donald McGockey.

Dramatic direction is conducted by Robert Richey, instructor of speech, and music direction by Dr. J. Paul Kennedy, professor of music. Direction of dancing sequences is handled by Joan Brodie, instructor of health and physical education. Staging was planned by John Hepler, instructor of speech.

Other members of the cast include sopranos Barbara Evans, Arliethia Konwin, and Diana Totter; baritones Jim Jarvis, Earl Arthur, and Guy Smith; tenor Walter Prinz.

Members of the accompanying instrumental group were selected from the University Orchestra.

Tickets will go on sale today at the Gate Theatre Box Office. Box office hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. BGSU students can buy activity card tickets; high school students will be able to buy 10 cent tickets. BGSU students can buy Ac card tickets; high school students will be able to buy 10 cent tickets. All other reserved seats will sell for one dollar.

End Of An Era...

An era in Bowling Green basketball history ended last night. Oklahoma City helped put the final touches on a four-year period that will long be remembered by all Falcon fans. This was the period that produced such names as Leo Kubick, Red Speicher, John Payak, Mac Otten, Bob Green, Charlie Share, Stan Weber, Gene Dudley, Bob Long, Fritz Plinke, and others.

This was also the era of the George Pepperdine overtime game in 1946, the resumption of relations with Toledo, the loss to St. Louis in the '48 Invitational and the sweet revenge in the NIT the next year against MacAuley and crew, the cold night against San Francisco, the hot night against Long Island and a new Garden record, the near taste of victory against the famous Kentucky Wildcats in Cleveland, Share netting 36 at the same arena a year later, the first home loss in 63 games to a highly respected Loyola quintet, Otten setting a new free throw record in the Garden, the first loss to Toledo, the '49 win over Loyola and Jack Keris, the gay times around the Paramount Hotel in March of '49. These and many other memories will always remain for the followers of the Orange and Brown during the last four years.

Next year will start a new era at Bowling Green. This will be the era of Beck, Kempter, Galetti, Joyce, Yackey, and maybe Gerber, Bales, Myer, Williams, and Pitts from the freshman team. Whether these men will create a period equal to the one just ended is unknown. Maybe a new star is now being made who will partially erase the name of Share when basketball is mentioned at BG. Maybe an unknown still in high school will someday lead the Falcons to a NIT title.

We are sorry to see this era end but yet eager to see the new one start. We only hope that Bowling Green will always remain among the top of the nation's basketball powers.

Stick With Toledo...

It is needless to say that the vandalism which occurred last week prior to the Toledo game was very childish on the part of both the Bowling Green and Toledo students involved. Luckily, nothing serious came of the incident and we are pleased with the way in which both parties apologized for their actions.

A relation such as we have with Toledo in all sports is very satisfactory to both schools and is especially satisfactory to the one man who had more to do with the resumption of relations than any other. That man is Harold Anderson, head basketball coach and director of athletics at this University.

Mr. Anderson said last week that he was personally very disgusted with the pre-game actions and that he wanted it understood that whatever happened he did not want to have to stop relations with Toledo again. Because he has coached at both schools he is particularly interested in the existing athletic relations, especially in basketball, and he is looking forward to many more years of meeting Toledo on the hardwoods.

It is also interesting to speculate into the future about BG-TU competition now that the Rockets have succeeded in beating the Falcon cagers. It is true that Toledo seems to have an excellent freshman team coming up, if they stay in school, but we are still pretty sure that Andy will continue to keep the upperhand the majority of the time.

Art Faculty Talent Shown In Exhibit

By JERRY KLEVER

Art Faculty members have shown that they can 'practice what they preach' in the Third Annual Faculty Show now being exhibited at the new Fine Arts Bldg. Jewelry, photographs, statues, water colors, intaglio prints, drawings, and oil paintings decorate the building that was formally opened to the public on Feb. 12.

In the lobby of the structure, Willard Wankelman, chairman of the Department, Harry Schulke, and Charles Lakofsky, have proved that cuff links, rings, and pins can be fashioned out of wire screen, stones, and polished silver and copper. Various glazes, colors (especially deep, bronze browns and splendid aquas, shapes, and patterns go to make up a particularly well-planned stone-ware pottery display, also shown in the lobby.

Inside the gallery, Harry Schulke exhibits photographs, which appeal to the emotion and the imagination of the viewer. He has done this by combining unusual printing methods with fascinating subjects. Chicken heads, distorted eyes, and spectre forms make the pictures interesting and weird.

Philip Wigg's mahogany wood-carving, "The Watcher," is a massive looking statue containing very little detail, and can be seen as one enters the gallery.

In the water color class, three paintings are especially worth noting. Robert Bone's "Nude" presents a favorite subject of many artists in a fresh and lively composition containing crystal clear color and well-planned depth. Peaceful, many-hued greens and a lovely sky, made by the flooding technique, give "Wood County Stream," by Willard Wankelman, a stamp of 'well-done.' "Barbary Coast," by Esko Rentola, conveys the thought that life, as found on the coast, is mostly hustle, bustle, with boisterousness and hilarity thrown in. The deft handling of calligraphy and the vivid colors used make this an excellent picture.

Using crayon, oil, water color, and ink, Marietta Kershner has exhibited six of her drawings. "Primitive Patterns" is a composite of pictures drawn by prehistoric man on the walls of his caves.

Annex Converted To Rec Hall At N. Dorm

A NORTH DORM student smiles as he cleans the facilities of the new rec hall.

By RUDY MANCINI

Something new has been added to North Dorm—and for a good purpose, too.

An annex of the dorm, vacated two weeks ago by a fraternity, again is a place of laughter, entertainment, fun, and relaxation since its conversion into a new, and much needed, recreation building.

Reconversion, done by students at the dorm, is being tackled with the zeal and artifice of professionals.

Walls have been taken out to make more room, the interior has a fresh coat of paint and the floors are covered with new linoleum. Lampshades, furniture, and various other accessories have been provided by the administration.

The particularly attractive feature in this set-up is the television room which can easily seat 20 or more comfortably. The Video set, plus some of the other fixtures, were purchased from a fund accumulated through the sale of cigarettes, cokes, cakes, and other articles for sale at the dorm.

The primary purpose of this fund is to promote social activities for students at the dorm under the direction of the House Council (7 members, one from each wing) elected by the students themselves.

In addition, there is a ping-pong room, suitable for two tables, a house council room, and two card rooms. It is certainly an impressive lay-out that boasts of all the conveniences and comforts of home and should do much in developing friendship and cordiality with its congenial and relaxing atmosphere.

Mr. Harmon Voskuil, director of the dorm, said most of the credit for the project's success should go to John Counyeur, the original instigator and promoter of the whole idea. "It is through his efforts," said Mr. Voskuil, "that the project is being successfully completed. John personally selected and instructed the men in many details of the work."

Open house will be held Sunday.

Campus Canine Coyly Confused

Escaped convict number 2201 has been recaptured. The little black and white fox terrier that was missing from his quarters in the Nest has been returned.

The dog, which had been missing since Feb. 18, turned up at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harris. It seems that the dog showed up at their house and appeared to be lost.

The Harris' fed it and the dog adopted them as its master.

When the article about the missing pooch appeared in last week's BEE GEE NEWS, Mrs. Harris read it and realized that the missing dog was at their home.

She notified Mrs. Musser at the Nest and the pooch is now romping around the Nest after a week's absence.

BG Art Profs Win Four Prizes

Two first prize and two honorable mention awards were presented to four Bowling Green State University art instructors at the recent Toledo Area Artists Contest.

Certificate awards were presented at a reception in the Toledo Museum of Art on Feb. 4.

Winning first prizes were Marietta Kershner for the drawing, "Man in Triplicate," and Philip Wigg for his print, "The Portal."

Honorable mention was given to Willard Wankelman, chairman of the Art Department, for his gouache painting, Charles Lakofsky also received mention for his work in ceramics.

The work of all contestants was displayed in an exhibit at the Toledo museum.

Letters To The Editor...

In accord with the policy of this paper, opinions expressed in letters to the editor are not necessarily those of the BEE GEE NEWS.

Dear Editor,
The fining of three Bee Gee students for the destruction of a few church signs has been irritating me. The irritation got much worse on Thursday evening of last week, and reached unbearable proportions on Saturday evening.

On Thursday evening the townspeople who came to the concert parked their cars on the lawn of the PA Bldg. and on the grass boulevard between the Library and Williams Hall and Shatzel Hall. I first noticed it when I was going to the PA Bldg. I had just stepped on the sidewalk in front of the building when a car nearly ran me down. It was a townspeople parking his car on the sidewalk. When I later went to the Library, a townspeople's car was parked across both crosswalks. There are state laws against parking on sidewalks, and on state, or private lawns.

Why weren't the townspeople arrested and fined? They certainly did more damage to the Bee Gee campus than the three students did to the town. Why should we be fined $5 for walking on campus grass when a townspeople can park his car on it. Why didn't the townspeople park their cars in the lot next to Ivy Hall as we are told to do? Why should Bee Gee students be punished when the townspeople aren't for similar offenses? WHY?

An irate student,
Manvel A. Geyer

Read It And Weep...

by BILL DAY

The local theatre, I could have made that plural but there is still quite a controversy raging as to the exact title of the other movie establishment in town, has certainly been playing right into the veteran's hands these last few weeks. Two weeks ago the big attraction was "Battleground," a tale of the Infantry during the Battle of the Bulge, and last Sunday "Twelve O'clock High" drew the crowds to an Airforce thriller.

I expect that the "Red Sands of Iwo Jima" will be here soon to appease the Marine element and then a problem will occur. What about the Navy, Coast Guard, Field Artillery, WACS, WAVES, and all the others? They can't just be left out without a word. They too must have a well-publicized picture to which they can take their sweethearts to see how they suffered during the war.

A re-release of "Task Force" would probably satisfy the sailors and there have been films about the Coast Guard and Submarines but that doesn't cover the entire list. I wonder if Hollywood is aware of what is happening? I wonder if they realize they have created a crisis?

For a week the Infantryman was the darling of sorority row and now the Airforce has taken over. Soon it will be the Marines. It may not be too obvious to everyone but it is definitely a fact that other servicemen have been hurt because they have been cast aside for the hero of the week. Sailors can be seen plotting in the dark corners of the Nest and Quartermaster veterans have had secret meetings late at night at Powell's Pond. And this is just one campus of thousands throughout the campus.

If Hollywood can see what is happening, the moving picture industry can tap a source of subjects that is inexhaustible. Just think, every week a new view of life in the armed forces. One week it would be "I Lived With a 105" and the next "Two Men in a Tank." What possibilities! For a grand finale, the giants of filmland could come forth with "Problems of a Civilian Air Raid Warden."

This may seem fantastic at first but it keeps getting better with time. In fact this may open an entirely new field to Hollywood and could even carry over to the legitimate theatre and television. After all, anything would be better than watching a bunch of second rate weight-lifters jump around the ring all evening in a poor attempt at wrestling.

By DAVE REICHERT

Recently it was learned that Student Senate may pass a measure exempting second semester seniors from final exams. Questions arose as to the eligibility of those who would be exempted; their point average, the size of their class, and the amount of tests given a semester.

Phyllis Glantz, a Cedarhurst, Long Island, freshman, believes that exempted students should have at least a B average in that subject. In looking ahead she said, "By the time a student becomes a senior, he should be able to maintain a B average in all courses."

Phyllis Glantz

Helen Mayer

"After four years, the student is entitled to a rest," said Helen Mayer with a smile. She would be more lenient with grade average, requiring only seniors with border-line grades of D's and F's to take finals. Helen is a freshman from Lima, O.

"Student Senate should pass the law," demands Pat Dyer, another freshman from Dayton, O. She believes that the professor and student can tell their grades after 3½ years. However, Pat does set up some restrictions. "If only two or three tests are given a year a final should be included; and only students with a C average should be exempted."

Pat Dyer

Russ Delonjay

Russ Delonjay, Toledo, O., junior, believes that finals will not affect the final grade, and therefore are unnecessary for seniors. "Large classes, where it is hard for the prof to know the student's qualifications, should be given finals; as should students on the border-line."

Sidelining . . .

with CHUCK ALBURY

If Coach Harold Anderson does an abnormal amount of blinking while he watches his Falcon cagers wind up the season at DePaul Saturday night it's to be excused by fans in attendance. It's just that there will be times when he seems to see a sixth player stationed down in the pivot with Charlie Share.

The extra man will be a tall, gangling kid who turns pretty clumsily, shoots inaccurately with either hand, and has general trouble keeping untangled from the other arms and legs near him. He'll look much like a younger Share, a little thinner and not quite so tall.

Andy's going to see this kid Saturday night and a lot of things will come back as he watches . . . Nights in the Men's Gym . . . Patient explaining and demonstrating . . . Exercises to teach co-ordination . . . But most of all the kid's determination and willingness to learn.

And as the memories rush by the two centers will finally merge into one and there'll be only one Share, hooking the shots up and fighting for the rebounds and tips. It's too bad there won't be more of us there to remember with Andy.

Before this begins to sound corny I'd better shut it off with this final thought. It may be that Charlie will not realize hopes for widespread All-American recognition. There will be some who have scored more points and others on teams with better records.

But for All-Determination and All-Sportsmanship awards there is no more logical candidate than Charlie Share. It seems likely that in future years these qualities will be worth much more than all the citations and trophies he may miss. Charlie Share's name will echo through the rooms and corridors of Bowling Green long after the big guy ceases to walk there.

SCHOLASTIC RECORD BOOK

Allan White of the LIMA NEWS sports staff writes that the NEWS has published a pocket size record book of Ohio high school basketball tournament activities since 1923. Within its 72 pages can be found results of each round in every state tournament since 1923; box scores of championship games; all-tournament teams; individual scoring records; a composite record of every school that ever participated in a state tournament; plus Kentucky and Indiana tourney champs, Big Ten and NCAA champions.

The colorfully bound volume can be obtained by sending 25 cents in coin to Allan White, P.O. Box 67, Lima, O.

Forensic Tourney Here This Weekend

Approximately 100 area students from 21 Northwestern Ohio and Southern Michigan high schools will compete in the District National Forensic League Tournament to be held in the Gate Theatre Bldg. this Friday and Saturday.

Oratorical contests include debates, extemporaneous speaking, oratorical declamations, and dramatic readings.

M. H. Mikle, assistant professor in the speech department, will be in charge of the tournament which will begin at 3 p.m. Friday.

All high school students will be housed in various sorority and fraternity houses on campus. The public is invited to attend the contests.

A BARTLETTGRAM—Tom Bartlett Says:

Not all of our younger people are bad drivers, thank heavens . . . Natural skills, mental alertness and speed of reaction are all at their best in the young driver . . . You might expect them to be among the best drivers, and many of them are, but you can't brush off the fact that, as a class, the record is bad . . . In the State of New York this year they approved separate insurance rates for drivers under 25, or where such a driver is in the family . . . Ohio has a similar insurance rate . . . These rates run up to 20 per cent higher than the rates used for business . . . Formerly the highest rated group . . . The Department of Insurance make these rate decisions and fair play requires that each class bear its own losses . . . The increased insurance auto rates is an excellent reason for exerting every effort to improve the young driver record . . . For information on LUMBERMEN'S see Charles E. Swim Team Takes Fourth Ohio Title

BEE GEE NEWS

SWIM COACH, Sam Cooper, poses with the seven trophies his team won at the Ohio College Relays at Cleveland Saturday. The king-size one in the center is the team award which the Falcons now have in permanent possession by virtue of winning it three times.

Coach Sam Cooper's tankers won their fourth straight Ohio Collegiate Swimming Relays title last Saturday at Fenn College in Cleveland. BG's swimmers retired the meet trophy as they scored 49 points. Kent State and Fenn, who were BG's leading foes, tied for second with 30 points apiece. Case Tech, Baldwin-Wallace, and Kenyon followed in that order.

Women Swimmers Host Mich. State

Women's swimming team will entertain Michigan State's mermaids in the Natatorium at 2 p.m. Saturday. Both speed and synchronized events will be contested.

The BG team recently dunked Ohio State's lassies, 60-33, in convincing fashion.

The tankers broke records in the 200 yard free style and the 400 yard free stylestroke relay in out of the seven events. Fenn won the other two. In winning the trophy, donated by Elwood Fisher of Cleveland, Coach Sam Cooper used fourteen squad members.

BG set the new mark in the 200 yard free style relay as Shearer, Clark, Woodfill, and Garrett swam the distance in 1:38.8. In the 200 yard backstroke relay Koenig, Caldwell, Wessman, and Friar won with a time of 2:00.5.

Fenn took the 150 yard individual medley with a time of 1:38.7. Shearer and Kline placed third and fourth for BG.

BG's Lehan, Kline, Clark, and Pence took the 200 yard breaststroke relay in 2:01.5.

Fenn also took the medley relay and broke the meet record as their swimmers came in with a time of 3:04.2. Koenig, Kline, and Brown came in second for BG.

The old record in the 400 yard free style relay fell as Shearer, Clark, Woodfill, and Heffner raced it in 3:43.5. In the diving event Feisel, Mason, and Craft combined to win by 35 points over their nearest rival.

A home meet with Oklahoma and the Central Collegiate Conference meet at East Lansing in two weeks will wind up an already successful season. Michigan State will be host to BG, Wayne University, of Chicago, Loyola (Chicago), DePaul, and Fenn College, among others in the CCC.

Coach Cooper said that the tankers have taken the intermediate crown the past two years, but added that he thought some of the teams will be able to qualify for the senior division this year.

Come June Coach Cooper will lose Kline, Shearer, who is captain of the squad, and Steve, who has been coaching the freshman swimmers this winter.

NEWS Adds 3

To Fill Openings

Three new appointments have been made to the BEE GEE NEWS staff for the spring semester to fill positions which have been vacated because of graduation.

Editor William Day has appointed Charles Albury, sports editor; Bill Lupton, feature editor; and Jack Dukes, photography editor. The other positions on the staff will remain the same as for the fall semester.

Phi Delta, ATO, DU's Win Frat Loop Cage Struggles

Scoring was cut down in Monday's fraternity cage play when games were played full court instead of the usual two smaller ones. Delta Upsilon knocked off Chi Alpha, 22-14, in the opening contest. Phi Delta then measured Sigma Chi, 19-13, and ATO ended activities with a 19-14 victory over ZBT.

Fraternity results last week showed Pi Kappa Alpha edging

Delta Tau Delta by a 17-16 count. Beta Sigma emerged on top, 13-10, in a battle with SAE. Sigma Nu staged a one-sided scoring spree, 32-17, at the expense of Gamma Theta Nu.

Zeta Beta Tau held a 14-10 margin over Theta Chi at halftime but couldn't hold on and finally lost by a 25-24 score. In the week's final game, Kappa Sigma outclassed Delta Phi Beta, 28-15.

Double Overtime Thriller Features Intramural Play

The Browns rallied to nip the Bankers in a double overtime game, 31-30, to feature last week's intramural basketball activity. Trailing at the half, the Browns overcame a 9-point deficit to win. Bill Schloenbachler paced the winners with 10 points. In the same league, the Wildmen trampled the Prout Park Polecats, 37-7.

In other games, the Stags edged Thurston Hall 20-19, Chugalugs beat O.C. "B" 16-9, B.T.O.'s thumped the Hoopsters 32-12, the Chain Gang topped Hut H 16-11, Merry Makers edged O.C. "A" 15-13, and the Peanut Hillers shaded the Celtics 25-23. The Nebs recorded a forfeit victory over the Owls.

Share May Hold New Scoring Mark

Fritz Nagy's Ohio College scoring record for a single season may have been passed by Charlie Share in last night's game with Oklahoma City. During the 1944-45 season, Nagy scored 547 points in 23 games while performing for the Akron University Zippers.

Share had tallied 542 going into Tuesday's game and needed only six markers to establish a new standard. Before Nagy, the Ohio record had been held by another former Bee Gee star, Wyndol Gray, who garnered 503 points during the 1942-43 campaign.

Wrestlers Whip Chi. Navy Pier; Fall Before MSC

Donal Thayer's grapplers completed a busy weekend by downing a strong Illinois Navy Pier squad, 19-13, at Chicago Saturday.

Friday a Michigan State varsity and JV squad pasted a 21-9 defeat on the local matmen. Vast improvement was shown by the Falcons, since virtually the same MSC squad whitewashed the locals earlier in the season.

Ray Florian and "Tiny" Hursh drew at East Lansing; Jack Morimatsu won by default, and Wagner lost in a close 2-point decision.

At Chicago Florian, Hursh, and John Juby won decisions; Dave Seiler won on a pin; and John Plas a fall. Wagner dropped a 1-point decision.

Herb Wyandt, 155 pounder, was pinned both at East Lansing and Chicago.

Falcons Lose Peace Pipe, Beat Lawrence

By CHUCK ALBURY

Toledo University finally caught up with Bowling Green's cagers after a 3-year wait and made off with the Peace Pipe and a 58-55 victory at the Sports Arena last Wednesday.

As so often happens in big games, both teams tightened up and the first half found little good basketball being played. The Rockets' Cal Christensen was the only player able to hit with any consistency and he too missed many easy attempts.

George Beck

Though ragged, the action was fast and furious those first 20 minutes as the lead changed hands on ten occasions and was deadlocked on six others. With a minute left, Toledo broke away from a 20-20 standoff to take a 24-20 lead at intermission and the Falcons never drew even again.

Much credit for the Toledo win must go to Lennie Rhodes, who held Charlie Share in almost complete check with rough, but effective tactics. It was Charlie's misfortune to be caught retreating and he was finally banished on personals after only 4:22 of the second half. At that time he had collected a meager six points.

With Share on the bench the Falcons came to life and, sparked by George Beck, played their best ball of the night. Beck pushed in 11 points in the last ten minutes and finished as high man for BG with 13.

Stan Weber committed his fifth foul with 5:30 left in the game and Toledo in the van, 49-40, and Bob Long was taken out with 1:45 remaining after he suffered a bad fall.

Meantime, the Rockets were shaking Bob McDonald, a stand-out all night, loose on some beautiful plays that offset the late BG drive. A last second Falcon out-of-bounds play designed to score and also draw a foul misfired on both counts and TU was a close but clear cut winner.

TOLEDO'S CAL CHRISTENSEN (34) seems to have lost track of the ball in this action shot of the Peace Pipe game at the Sports Arena. George Beck (95), Stan Weber (96), and Bob McDonald (22) fight for possession while Charlie Share (99) and George Bush (25) look on.

Bowling Club sent a team to participate in a tournament at the Ohio State University, Saturday, Feb. 18. Eight colleges competed, including: Baldwin-Wallace, Bowling Green, Dayton, Denison, Heidelberg, and Ohio Wesleyan. Ohio State entered two teams.

All teams rolled three games. The standings of the first three places were: Ohio Wesleyan, 1810; Ohio State I, 1805; Bowling Green, 1794. The team from BG was composed of: Barbara Francis, LaVerne Manke, Diane McQuilkin, Nancy Tank, and Trois Woods.

The 40 women bowlers and eight faculty advisers were guests at a luncheon in Pomenene Hall before the tournament started at 1 p.m.

By DAVE REICHERT

Keeping alive Coach Harold Anderson's record of never having lost more than 10 games in one season, Bowling Green's Falcons solved a tricky zone defense in beating Lawrence Tech 75-65, last Saturday at Bee Gee.

Their record, following the game, stands at 17-10, and with three games remaining, they may still crack the charmed circle of 20 wins.

All-American candidate Chuck Share brought his average above 20 points as he caged 25, although bothered by the zone set up to stop him. His season's total after 27 games is 542.

It was the outside work that actually beat the Blue Devils. Never permitted to use their running pick-off plays, the Falcons were forced to rely on the accurate shooting of Stan Weber, who hit often enough from the sides to amass 19. Gene Dudley and George Beck added nine and eight points respectively, all on outside shots.

The game was nip and tuck, until the Orange and Brown pulled ahead 41-40 after the start of the second half. They were never behind from that point.

The show will be held in the Bowling Green Armory on East Wooster St. General admission will be $1 and reserved seats $1.50.

Bouts have not been definitely set but it is known that Bill Jordan, BG track star and a finalist in this year's Northern Ohio Golden Gloves, will feature the 8-bout program.

Golden Glovers from the Cleveland district and a team made up of BG students will round out the show. This is the second boxing card to be sponsored by Sigma Psi Omega in the school year.

Frank Denning, negro forward, displayed uncanny accuracy, hitting for 25 points from all over the court.

The game marked this season's debut for Fritz Plinke, veteran guard, who has been waylaid with a broken ankle sustained before the season opened. Plinke, a senior, played only the last two minutes.
